Organised by:

Department of Microbiology, AIIMS, Kalyani
Under the aegis of IATP

Dates: 20th & 21st February 2026

Venue: Yamuna Hall & Department of Microbiology, AIIMS, Kalyani

Organising Chairperson: Prof (Dr.) Ujjala Ghoshal

Organising Secretary: Dr Nonika Rajkumari

AIIMS Kalyani-IATP National Workshop on Diagnosis of Coccidian Parasites

This workshop is designed to enhance the diagnostic capabilities of PG students and junior faculty in the detection of coccidian parasites in humans. Participants will gain hands-on training in key diagnostic techniques including microscopic identification, specialized staining methods, serological assays, and PCR-based molecular diagnostics. By enhancing diagnostic skills through practical training, the workshop strengthens clinical and academic capacity in parasitology. As, it bridges theoretical knowledge with practical skills, the workshop not only improves individual competence but also supports the development and strengthening of parasitology diagnostic laboratories in academic and clinical settings.

Highlights:

- Hands- on staining methods, interpretations, artefacts
- Coproantigen testing and serology
- Molecular methods – hands on method, cartridge methods, protocols and interpretations
